ship with regards to economic subjects. The country has benefited immensely by having him in office and common justice as well as good sense calls for keeping him there another term.

As matters stand Wilson probably cannot be defeated by anyone because he is the country's logical choice. The very fact Oregon republicans voted for Hughes is in itself a compliment to the president. Not having Wilson upon their ticket republican voters have done the best thing they could by supporting the man who according to the line the people have upon him measures up most closely to the Wilson standard.

THE ROAD SUBJECT

THE overwhelming defeat of the road bonds should not be taken as a repudiation by Umatilla county of the general cause of better roads. It simply means the people were very much opposed to the plan presented to them and the various reasons for that feeling need not be enumerated here.

There is however, a general opinion that our roads are not satisfactory and that something should be done to improve the situation. It will be well for the county if this feeling can be crystallized into action and there are signs this may be done. Many who were aggressive in fighting the bonding plan think it is now incumbent upon them to get back of a higher millage tax or in some other way take constructive action looking to better roads.

They are right upon the point that action by them will be timely. The road problem is yet unsolved and it is a subject deserving earnest study and general cooperation with a view to securing the most satisfactory results for the money to be expended. The road question is a mooted one and possibly no single line of action will answer all purposes for the entire county. It is needless to say however, the subject can be best handled if approached from a broad standpoint, forgetting all private or community prejudices and any bitterness engendered during the recent campaign.

The East Oregonian did not champion either side of the bonding proposition but maintained an open forum for the discussion of the subject by the people. The columns of the paper are still open upon this question as well as upon other subjects of public interest and it is to be hoped that further suggestions as to what should be done will be forthcoming.

GREATER INCOMES

THE best indication of the tremendous industrial prosperity enjoyed by the country in the past year of the Wilson administration is found in the income tax figures now being compiled in the office of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue. These figures indicate that the income tax collections will be approximately $26,000,000 in excess of the collections a year ago. They indicate that the increases in the taxable incomes of the country, of both individuals and corporations, amounted to from $1,500,000,000 to $2,000,000,000, to say nothing of the tremendous volume of increases in the smaller incomes below the exemption mark and, therefore, not taxable.

The income tax collections a year ago totaled approximately $80,000,000. Of this amount $38,000,000 represented corporation taxes and $42,000,000 individual income taxes. The returns for the present year show that the income tax collections will be about $106,000,000, an increase of approximately $26,000,000 over last year's total. The returns indicate that the increase in corporation taxes amounted to $12,000,000 and that of individual income taxes to $14,000,000.

These tremendous increases in taxable incomes, reflected in the increased income taxes, are attributable directly to the great business and industrial expansion which took place in the country's past year of prosperity. Of course a very creditable portion of the increase is attributable to the excellent efficiency methods inaugurated by Commissioner of Internal Revenue William H. Osborn, in providing against tax dodging, but the great bulk of the increased returns is due to the great expansion of the country's earnings.

Differ as they will on local questions Pendleton and Umatilla county people stand together when they face the outside world and this was shown in the election of a Pendleton girl as queen of the Portland rose festival. It is an honor worth having and the city has been true to its reputation as a community that does things.

The renomination of Ben Olcott is a wholesome indication that the people appraise personal merit above factionalism. The governor and the old guard blundered when they tried to kill off Olcott. They went hunting for trouble and found it.

Let us hope that Mr. Beal's visit will have a favorable effect upon our weather conditions; the wintry variety is becoming a bore.

HUGHES AND WILSON

GENERALLY speaking the people showed sound judgment in their voting Friday and nowhere was this illustrated better than in the republican vote for Hughes.

Of the men on the republican ballot for the presidency Hughes was easily the most preferable. He is a much bigger man than Burton or Cummins and more fit presidential timber.

In many respects Hughes is of the Woodrow Wilson type. He is a scholar and a thinker with considerable political independence about him. He is the nearest approach to Wilson the republicans have got and that is high praise for the justice.

If the country should see fit to place a republican in the white house it would be well for the country to have Hughes as the man. He would be a more fit successor to Wilson than would many others who could be named.

However, it is not likely the people will see any occasion for changing presidents. Wilson is making good both with reference to the war situation and in constructive statesman-able or unwilling to explain the reason, declaring that if Marrin had any ill-will toward him he didn't know it. He stated that Phillips had grabbed Marrin and thrown him on the bed. At this juncture, he said, Matlock asked him to leave the room to avoid further trouble and he had done so. He testified that the "game getter" was on the dresser when he went in the room but that Marrin had placed it in a drawer of the dresser. Mrs. C. H. Browne the landlady, was the second witness. She told of being aroused about 1 in the morning by a sound that might have been the shot. Previously, she said, she had heard loud voices from Marrin's room. She went in the hall, she said, and saw Marrin and Phillips emerge from the room, the former supporting the latter. As they reached the head of the stairs, Marrin told her to call the police, she testified, as they had been shot. He let go of Phillips at the time and the latter sank to the floor. He was bleeding profusely. She also testified to the disorder in which she found the room, indicating that there had been quite a scuffle.

Money Couldn't Buy It

The relief he personally experienced moved Mr. W. F. Briggs, Kansas, Okla., to write to the Pinus laboratories a letter of appreciation in which he says:

"Fruita and Traxo helped me so much I am advising all who suffer with gall-stones to try them. Money wouldn't buy what this medicine has done for me."
Fruita is an intestinal lubricant that softens the congested masses, disintegrates the hardened particles that cause so much suffering and expels the accumulated waste to the intense relief of the patient. Following a dose of Fruita, Traxo should be taken three or four times a day to restore the system that has been weakened by constant suffering. It is a splendid tonic, acting on the liver and stomach most beneficially.
Fruita and Traxo are prepared in the Pinus laboratories at Monticello, Ill., and arrangements have been made to supply them through representative druggists. In Pendleton they can be obtained at Tallman & Company, 623 Main St.
